

We can't have business as usual. Be indivisible communications are no longer secure. Even the mighty asymmetry of time only applies to a closed system like entropy.

time is a relative concept considered an actual dimension. The 4th dimension of time.

There is no going backwards in time.
time may be slowed, but not reversed.
we all march forward on the straight arrow of time. Except we don't, do we?
our view is more like the view looking at the results of the present, with an expectation of the future outcome.
we don't actually move from that view.
Tachyons are a thing?
particles at super luminal velocity. it should be simple. If they are actually a wave in a field. Like all the other particles. we are always measuring time. so the wave property

It's really red October

Soviets are gone, but the memory lingers, It's become one of those happy memories, The really crazy events that seem better with the unimpeded time and fading memory of the actual time and events being.

Meanwhile science becomes ever more theistic in support of climate change, Oh and what about zero? It only receives grudging support.
